HUGE POLITICAL POSTER

County Chairman L. C. Hutson today received through the mails a sample political poster seven feet in length which is calculated to attract considerable attention and copies of which may be ordered later for display throughout the county in the coming Democratic campaign.

Topping a long list of achievements during his administration is the portrait of Woodrow Wilson. Especial attention is paid to the fact that naval appropriations totalling $665,000,000 on the side of preparedness have been made during President Wilson's term as against the following appropriations during the previous administrations: McKinley-Roosevelt, $107,000,000; Roosevelt, $83,000,000, and Taft, $127,000,000.

"Peace and prosperity are ours," says this call.

CIRCUS TIME AGAIN

Howe's London Much Bigger—The Glasgow Horses Also Coming.

The great London aggregation of colossal and renowned features will be in Chickasha Monday, Sept. 4. Acrobats from the old world and the new; giants, pigmies, beasts of the wildest forests of the world; strange birds and daring bareback riders.

Circus day comes around about right. A fellow gets old during the winter. Notes fall due; things must be attended to; life looks serious any way one looks at it. A thousand things press down upon the mind until the head aches. Wrinkles grow deep during the winter, and the hair borrows a tinge from the frosts. It's a different circus day. You're a boy again—or ought to be.

The $25,000 Glasgow Prize Horses are also with Howe's London Show this season. Beauties say the critics everywhere.

The highest spot cash price will be paid for some clean cotton rags delivered at once to the Daily Express office.

STRIKE IMPENDING

In the light of the existing situation it is difficult to see anything ahead but industrial war in the railroad realm. It is evident that both the brotherhoods and the railroad managers have their backs bowed and there is little or no prospect that either will recede from the position taken. President Wilson has exhausted all his resources of argument and persuasion in his efforts to avert the impending calamity and as a final step he has very properly gone before congress with propositions designed to prevent the interruption of traffic and to pave the way for preventing a repetition of a similar disaster in the future.

As the responsible head of the government, the president is acting solely with the public interest in view. At most the men involved in the controversy on both sides constitute only a small minority of those who would suffer in case of a prolonged strike though their interests are more direct than those of the public. The president has a right to expect congress to use all the means at its disposal to find a solution of the problem and the recommendations which he has made offer ample avenues for approaching it. In all probability the sympathy of the public in the matter will lie largely with itself, veering, however, to the side which shows the most disposition to sacrifice its own view for the benefit of the broad welfare of the country.

THE TEXAS VERDICT

Doubtless you have noticed that Texas has again gone Democratic. The renomination of Senator Culbertson was distinct victory for the national administration. Ex-Gov. Colquitt his opponent, has been a relentless critic of President Wilson and the eyes of the nation were on the Texas primary to see whether his views were going to meet with the approval of the people.

Of course a variety of elements contributed to the final result but Colquitt's anti-administration position was probably the decisive factor. The former governor who demanded that Wilson pursue a big stick policy toward Mexico was supposed by some people in the north and east to voice the view of the people of Texas. His reputation is a sad disillusionment to those Republican leaders who were expecting to see the Democrats of the Lone Star state turn against President Wilson.

In Texas, if anywhere, it might be supposed that the attack on the Mexican policy of the administration would meet with some response since the people along the border where bandits have been active have vital interests at stake. The election of Culbertson must tend to serve notice on Mr. Hughes if it will have to direct his offensive against the Wilson works in some other quarter if he expects to have any chance to break through. Texas along with the rest of the country is satisfied to allow Mexico to remain in "statu quo," convinced that Wilson has followed the practical and patriotic course which is best for the nation.

THE DUTTON WAY

We had the pleasure Tuesday evening of attending a meeting of the Community club in the Dutton neighborhood and we saw the Dutton way of doing things. For fear that you may not know what a community club is we hasten to explain that it is simply an organization of farmers and their wives for the purpose of meeting in social intercourse and for the discussion of matters affecting their common interests. It is simply a company of neighbors getting together to have good times and with the further object of promoting the welfare of the community. The home, the school and the material interests of the members occupy the attention of the community club. Ultimately, it is hoped that the result will be to bind good neighbors together in close co-operative effort that will make farm life more pleasant as well as more profitable.

The Dutton club is one of several similar organizations in Grady County and it is meeting with marked success. The people there like it and are justly proud of it. Perhaps the finest thing about it is that it is cultivating the neighborly spirit. It is evident that these people realize that country life will be what they make it and they have a full recognition of its possibilities.

ties. They know that they can have a better community and realize larger profits from their labors by taking counsel and working in unison for the accomplishment of their purposes. It is a practical plan that they are following, no chasing after mere theories which would hold out alluring prospects but bring no real returns. The Dutton way holds out great hopes for that community and for people everywhere, who get together in the same manner, putting a like degree of earnestness and cordial co-operation into their undertakings.

WHAT DEMOCRACY HAS DONE

(By Scott Ferris, M. C.)

The Democratic party has been in power under Woodrow Wilson for a period extending over a little more than three years' time. There never was a time in the history of the country when the wage scale was as high as it is now. For example: The average wage of railroad employees under Roosevelt was $3.04; under Taft $3.37; under Wilson $3.68. Similar increases for farm laborers and every other class of laborers have been made under the Wilson administration. And there never was a time in the history of the country when the farmer received as much for his products or his livestock as he does today.

There never was a time in the history of the country when the financial resources were as great as they are today. The report of the controller of the currency for March, 1916, shows total resources of $13,828,000,000, exceeding by 379 millions the greatest resources ever before shown in the national banking system.

The national wealth increased in a single year, from March, 1915, to March, 1916, $2,271,000,000. This single year's increase exceeds the entire resources of the central bank of Germany as reported in 1916.

The aggregate resources of the national banks of the United States exceeds by three billion dollars the combined resources of the central banks of England, France, Russia, Germany, Netherlands, Switzerland and Japan.

The Democratic party passed an income tax law during the Wilson administration that has been in operation 32 months and it has yielded $138,776,775.52 during that time, or almost $5,000,000 per month. President Taft valued the income tax bill during his administration. I insist the Democratic party has better records. The Democratic party gave the country a new currency system which has brought prosperity to the people in all the walks of life.

A man left his umbrella in the street in a hotel, with a card bearing the following inscription attached to it: "This umbrella belongs to a man who can deal a blow of 250 pounds weight. I shall be back in ten minutes." On returning to seek his property he found in its place a card thus inscribed: "This card was left here by a man who can run twelve miles an hour. I shall not be back."

He Didn't Know.

Brown was on his way home from his first lodge meeting when the trolley car jumped the track and bumped into a telegraph pole.

As he limped away from the scene of the wreck a policeman accosted him and asked: "Were you hurt in the accident, sir?"

"Accident?" said Brown, looking dazed. "Was that an accident? thought it was part of the initiation."
